

2. A weight of mass m is hung from the end of a spring which provides a restoring force equal to k times its extension. The weight is released from rest with the spring unextended. Find its position as a function of time, assuming negligible damping.